

Read Haggai in a Week

A Seven-Day Reading Plan with One Question a Day

Haggai is only two chapters long. This plan pairs it with the part of the book of Ezra that tells the same story, so you can see what was happening when Haggai spoke. Each day takes about ten minutes. Check the box when you finish.

DAY
1

The whole book: Haggai 1 and 2

Read it straight through. It takes about ten minutes.

What one line stands out to you most?

☐

2

The journey home: Ezra 1 and Ezra 3

A king lets God's people return, and they lay the foundation of a new temple.

Why do you think some of the people wept while others shouted for joy (Ezra 3:12-13)?

☐

3

The work stops: Ezra 4:1-5, 24 and 5:1-2

Opposition comes, the building sits for years, and then two prophets speak.

What has made you stop doing something you knew was right?

☐

4

Consider your ways: Haggai 1:1-15

God asks His people to take an honest look at their priorities.

What have you been telling God it is not yet time for?

☐

5

Be strong and work: Haggai 2:1-9

The new temple looks small, and God promises a greater glory.

Where do you need to hear "I am with you" this week?

☐

6

From this day forward: Haggai 2:10-23

A hard lesson about holiness, followed by a promise of blessing.

What would change if you believed God could begin something new today?

☐

7

The temple is finished: Ezra 6:13-22

The work is completed, and the people celebrate with joy.

What has God brought to completion in your life that once looked stalled?

☐

New to the Bible? Haggai is near the end of the Old Testament, between Zephaniah and Zechariah. Ezra is closer to the middle, right after 2 Chronicles. The table of contents at the front of your Bible lists the page numbers.
